A B O U T U S

Goldwater Ventures is a full-service cultural sustainability firm offering advisory and media services to institutions engaging with cultural communities. Our mission is to sustain the traditionalist lifeways of cultural communities worldwide.

Our Goldwater Arts division produces compelling content featuring African-descendant, Indigenous, and Latiné/a/o/x experiences, while our Goldwater Advisory practice provides strategic guidance to institutions supporting these communities.

We are certified as a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE), Service Disabled Veteran Owned Business Enterprise (SDVOBE), Veteran Business Enterprise (VOBE), Individual with DisAbility Business Enterprise (IWDBE), and a Historically Underutilized, Small Business.

Since 2022, the Goldwater team has empowered private and public sector clients to build culturally sustainable products, services, programs, and practices. As a nascent, yet paradigm-defining firm in this emerging space, now more than ever, it is crucial to embed cultural sustainability into the core of our largest institutions.

FOUNDER

A. Prince Albert III (he/they), affectionately known as "The Culture Keeper" is a revered Afro/Indigenous cultural sustainability advocate, a flourishing social entrepreneur, and an emerging filmmaker. He produces content and authors publications on cultural sustainability, cultural lifeways, folklore traditions, and other topics relating to Afro-Diasporic, Indigenous, and Latiné/a/o/x cultural rights.

Prince is the Founder and President of Goldwater Ventures. Goldwater Ventures is a full-client service cultural sustainability firm committed to sustaining the traditionalist lifeways of cultural communities worldwide. The firm builds from the foundational premise that cultural sustainability is the comprehensive strategy to address our world's biggest societal challenges like climate change, food and water security, global health crises, political and economic instability, the rapid and uneven spread of powerful technologies, and evolving systems of oppression that perpetuate poverty and inequity. Goldwater's Advisory practice delivers expert guidance to large institutions supporting Afro/Indigenous communities, and the firm's Arts division produces compelling content about Afro/Indigenous cultural experiences. Goldwater's Arts division has advised on a multi-Emmy-nominated short film, produces Goldwater Grooves (Diasporic Music Series) and the second season of The Culture Keepers Show.

Before founding Goldwater Ventures, Prince enjoyed over 12 years of experience as a distinguished advisor and public interest policy advocate. Prince is a recognized thought leader on technology law and policy, particularly at its intersections with civil liberties, civil rights, consumer rights, and human rights. His lobbying efforts have encompassed over 50 legislative matters. His direct efforts were instrumental in at least 15 rulemakings across federal agencies, including the FTC, FCC, DoJ, Commerce, and NIST. Prince has made over 20 appearances on national media and authored more than 12 reports cited in academic publications, federal proceedings, and a U.S. Supreme Court case. As a skilled advocate, he has spearheaded 26 advocacy coalitions and established 20 strategic partnerships with Fortune 500 companies, government and NGO officials, and philanthropists, raising over $1 million for the mission-driven organizations he has served.

Prince is a veteran of the United States Navy. He earned his Juris Doctor from Georgetown University Law Center as a Global Law Scholar. He graduated from Morehouse College summa cum laude, Phi Beta Kappa, with Bachelor of Arts degrees in Philosophy and French. He speaks French and Spanish, and is conversant in Portuguese, English-based and French-based Creoles. Prince routinely gives academic lectures at America's top law and policy schools to empower future generations of social good leaders.

Arts & Media Services

Our Goldwater Arts division produces compelling content featuring African-descendant, Indigenous, and Latiné/a/o/x experiences. In particular, we produce film, documentary, and video projects that represent cultural communities' lived experiences through time, placing storytelling in service to cultural sustainability. We also delivery high-fidelity audio productions to give voice to cultural communities through story and music, ensuring that specific oral traditions, musical expressions, and soundscapes live on. We produce podcasts, record traditional music, and provide sound design and editing support to media projects of all forms.
